

Report on the One-Hour
“IP Awareness/Training Program under NIPAM”

Date: August 19, 2024

Venue: Anantha Lakshmi Institute of Technology & Sciences (ALTS)

Organizer: IPR Cell, ALTS

Resource Person:

Mr. Kumar Raju. Assistant Controller of Patents & Designs, RGNIPM, Nagpur

Introduction

The one-hour awareness program titled “IP Awareness/Training Program under NIPAM” was organized to educate faculty members and students about the importance of intellectual property (IP) in the modern academic and industrial landscape. With the increasing focus on innovation, creativity, and research-driven solutions, understanding IP rights has become critical for safeguarding intellectual assets. The program aimed to enhance participants' knowledge of the National Intellectual Property Awareness Mission (NIPAM) and its role in fostering an IP-conscious culture across institutions.

The session covered various aspects of IP rights, including patents, trademarks, copyrights, and designs, with practical insights on filing processes and strategies for leveraging IP for academic and professional growth. By building awareness about IP protection, the program sought to empower individuals and institutions to contribute effectively to the innovation ecosystem.

Objective of the Campaign:

The primary objective of the program was to provide participants with foundational knowledge of intellectual property rights and their importance. The session aimed to:

- Educate participants about the types and benefits of IP protection.
- Create awareness of the National Intellectual Property Awareness Mission (NIPAM).
- Equip participants with basic tools and resources for filing and managing IP rights.

Key Highlights of the Session

1. Introduction to Intellectual Property (IP):

- Overview of various types of IP: patents, trademarks, copyrights, and industrial designs.
- Importance of IP in fostering innovation and protecting intellectual assets.

2. Role of NIPAM:

- Objectives and scope of the National Intellectual Property Awareness Mission.
- NIPAM's initiatives to promote IP education and training in academic and professional domains.

3. Tools and Resources for IP Management:

- Demonstration of online tools for patent searches and application filing.
- Guidance on accessing IP-related databases and resources.

- Best practices for ensuring successful IP filings.
- 4. Interactive Q&A Session:
 - Participants raised queries about IP-related challenges, such as patenting processes, publication conflicts, and institutional IP policies.
 - Expert advice was provided on aligning research outputs with IP protection strategies.

Outcome:

The program successfully enhanced awareness of intellectual property rights and their significance in research and innovation. Faculty members and students gained valuable insights into IP protection processes and expressed a keen interest in pursuing further training on advanced IP topics. The program fostered a deeper understanding of NIPAM's mission and its role in promoting IP education.

Conclusion:

The “IP Awareness/Training Program under NIPAM” fulfilled its objective of educating participants on the importance of intellectual property and equipping them with basic knowledge to protect their innovations. The program highlighted the pivotal role of IP in academic and professional growth, encouraging participants to leverage IP as a tool for fostering creativity and driving impactful research.
